-An authograph letter of John Quin-Harvard, then to Yale. He says in conclusion: "The disposition" (to religious enthusiasm) "manifested by your son is one which, were the position in which it places you my own, I should not only deem it incumbent on me to treat with the utmost tenderness, but to cherish and direct, rather than to restrain. So strong ular, its limbs can be literally tied in a is the tendency of all human learning, as taught in the present age, to infidelity, that nothing but deep religious fervor can preserve a young man in the process of a literary education from falling into religious indifferences from which there is but one step to speculative atheism. This is the disease of the age, and it creeps downward from the enlightened and necessarily ignorant mind. Indifference to the question what and where we are to be, after the close of our short career upon earth, is the swift and too often fatal step to the disbelief that there is any future state of responsible existence for us in reserve."

-Sarah A. Summers is under arrest in Des Moines. She was fast accumulating a fortune, when her business was interrupted by the police. She sent to all parts of country circulars advertising a substance really composed of white sugar alone, but of which she said: "It possesses such powerful and magnetic influences that, when handled by either sex and given to the other, they immediately LADIES' GAITERS $1 TO $2.50. become attracted, and in a short time love the giver, no matter who they have loved before. Any lady or gentleman can gain the love; and wed the one they love, by using this powder. It is easily given in wine or liquors of any kind, or tea, coffee, or any drink that can be sweetened, as it tastes and looks like sugar, and can be given without fear of detection, or can be given by another person after following directions. The love you gain will be true, pure and permanent.' In Mrs. Summer's rooms a vast number of letters were found, chiefly from girls in seminaries, showing that she had sold a great quantity white sugar at the rate of about a dollar per half ounce. Some of the purchasers had written to say that they had administered the powders but without effect.

-In many of the Pacific seaport towns of South America an extra postage of from ten to twenty-five cents is demanded for allowing letters to remain until called for. Besides this, there is no security for letters sent to private individuels in the interior. This is the cese with nearly all the South American countries, excepting N. B. -Furniture made to order. Repairing Chili, where letters from the United States seem to have gone quite regularly. The present post office officials in South America are mostly ignorant men, and papers. They have no idea of foreign Baker and Confectioner, are unscrupulous as to opening letters and geography, except as to the location of Paris, London, New York, Madrid, and Lisbon, and send most of the letters in their charge to one of these points, no matter what the address may be.

- Dr. Francis Gardner, for many years head master of the Public Latin School of Boston, prided himself much of his economy of wearing apparel, and would occasionally lecture the boys on the follies of extravagance in dress. One day he came into the recitation room of a lower class, his well-worn overcoat flapping at his heels, as usual. The lads, all of whom had just reached their teens, looked up from their books to see what was coming. "D'ye see this coat?" said the old gentlemen, stroking the sleeve of the venerable garment approvingly, and glancing over his shoulder for the rear effect: "How many of you boys there can say you have worn a coat for forty years, as I have this?"

-- It is extraordinary how the royal family of England is pursued by typhoid fever. The Prince Consort died from it; the Prince of Wales all but did so; Prince Leopold some time since had enteric fever, supposed to arise from a similar cause; two months ago the Prioce of Wales's son caught fever which was attributed to the state of the drains at Marlborough House, and now Miss Knollys, one of the Princess of Wales's Rhollys, one of the Tribess of Wales's ladies, has typhoid fever at Abergeldie Castle, the Prince of Wales's residence near Balmoral. It might have been suppressed that if any one could secure good. -It is becoming painfully clear that the bad San Domingo monks played it on the Spaniards in 1795, when they delivered to them bogus bones as those of Christopher Columbus for removal with much pomp to a sepulture in the Cathedral of Hayana. If it be true that the great discoverer's bones are still in San Domingo, we now see what we lost by not annexing the island, as Grant wanted us to do. Still, as the authorities ecclesiastical and civil, propose to perpetuate the proof of the pious fraud of their predecessors by raising a monument to Columbus over his real bones, we can partly expiate our folly by subscribing to the monument.

-- "This is George the Fourth," said an exhibitor of waxwork for the million at a penny each, pointing to a very slim figure with a theatrical crown on his head. "I thought he was a very stout man," observed a spectator. "Werry likely," replied the man shortly, not approving of the comment of his visitor; but if you'd a been here without wittles half so long as he has, you'd been twice

Dr. I. J. Martin's STANDARD

FAMILY MEDICINES. THESE truly valuable Medicines have most of them been before the public for over thirty years, and wherever they have been intro-duced, have acquired a high reputation. The extensive experience of the Proprietor, enables him to place before the community Goot and RELIABLE FAMILY MEDICINES, such as need only a fair trial to become fully appreciated. They are composed of the Puhest Materials, selected with great care, and combined in accordance with the most recent liscoveries in Pharmacy and Chemistry, and in the most accurate manner. A large number of the most reliable certi ficates could be produced in testimony of their virtues, but the proprietor is willing to rest them upon their own intrinsic merits. It is no small praise that many intelligent physicians have given them their entire ap probation.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual rem-edy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast tri-al of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affec-tions of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attacks of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incuraeasily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and sayed to the laye and affection graves, and saved to the love and affect entred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the attention possible perfection. It may be confi-
